

CENTRAL VERMONT RUNNERS
Fall 2008 Volume 29, Issue 4

Norm's Notes

The fall race season is in full swing, and for some of you that means fall marathons. Good luck to all that are racing this season. For the rest of us it is taking advantage of the great running weather that still exists and the diminishing daylight to run in. Morning runs are already in the dark!

I was one of several dozen that met at Positive Pie recently to wish Brenda and George Phillips good luck as they move on to live in England in the near future. There was talk of a trip to the London Marathon in 2010. Wouldn't that be fun! They will be sorely missed for their hard work, and wonderful friendship.

Some good news! Please welcome Tim Shea to the fraternity of race directors. Tim has agreed to direct the First Night 5K, and I believe he and Rowly are already in discussion about what needs to be done. A big thank you to Tim for taking this on! I am sure everyone in the club will give him whatever help is necessary to make this another successful race.

A reminder that the date has been changed to Wednesday, Oct. 15th at 6:00 pm at Darragh's house. If you are unclear on directions you can call her at 223-2080.

The following is some of the Agenda for the meeting:

Follow up on Northfield 5K and Leaf Peepers

Update on Logo/shirt progress

Setting the Race schedule for 2009.- Race directors should contact me as soon as possible to confirm that you are continuing in your duties, and date/time for 2009 race. This is especially the case if you are unable to attend the Oct. 15th meeting. My email is normrobinson@comcast.net.

If time permits I hope to have a discussion about the Onion River race series and how we might improve on it in 2009.

See you on the Roads!

Norm

Robinson's Ramblings

Do you ever have too much time on your hands? Are you free to let your mind wander over what is REALLY happening in the world, instead of what seems to be going on? For some reason my brain fires off in that direction from time to time, and it is a bit scary. Am I a genius, because only I see it, or within one step of insane?

As I enter the last months of my presidency, I have begun to look at CVR, and I wonder.....

Bob Murphy- the godfather of the Central Vermont Runners club has entertained us with various articles on the history of the club. Is all of this true? Or is Bob re writing history to cover up some dark secret somewhere? Hum, I wonder.....

What makes Betty Rose run, and run, and run so well? And are Betty's good friends- Brenda and George Phillips REALLY going to England, or do they know something they shouldn't and in reality going into the witness protection program in Albuquerque, New Mexico? Hum, I wonder....

Why does Leaf Peepers make so much money? Is Roger Cranse donating money to the race, rather than being paid to do such a great job? Or... is it a front for a money laundering operation run by a master mind? Hum, I wonder.....

Would anyone pay for a "Muscle Men of CVR" calendar other than Maureen, and my wife? Who would be Mr. December?? Hum, I wonder....

Does Tim REALLY like some of the courses he designs, or does he have a mean streak hidden deep inside him somewhere? Hum, I wonder....

And what about those Bear Swamp mile markers? Why are they always smiling? What do they know that we don't? Does anyone else think they are a little creepy?

Does anyone know if anyone has EVER cleaned any of those Gatorade jugs? Where are they kept? What else are they used for? Have any of you felt sick recently following a race? Have any of you been tested for Legionaries disease?

Why do John and Dot Martin train inside so much? What, or who are they REALLY hiding? Has anyone seen Sam Davis in awhile? John seems quicker? Is there cloning going on in their "exercise" room in the basement? Hum, I wonder.....

Genius, or insane? You decide.....

AND THEY ARE OFF...

George & Brenda Phillips Farewell

"I just want to thank all of you for our great send-off party last night! Thanks for the ORS running gear and the great dinner at Positive Pie. George and I had a wonderful time. George and I were talking last night about how lucky we are to be part of this running community, and how crazy it is that we are going to move. We will miss you very much. We hope you may find a reason to run in the UK at some point over the next three years so that you may visit us. London 2010?? You are more than welcome to stay with us (although I am not sure our flat will be to handle the crowd from last night!). Thanks again!

Lots of love,
Brenda & George"

An Irish Blessing

(A Blessing from St. Patrick)

May the road rise to meet you,
May the wind be always at your back,
May the sun shine warm upon your face,
May the rains fall soft upon your fields,
And, until we meet again,
May God hold you in the hollow of His hand. *

readers please note this is the quote, and do not take offense – a deity by any name the Irish will still be blessing you.*

On May 3, Donna Smyers (left) won her 50-54 age group at the St. Croix Ironman 70.3 Triathlon assuring her a spot at the Hawaii Ironman. Donna will leave around October 7th for the Hawaii Ironman Triathlon Ford World Championship which takes place in Kailua Kona October 11, 2008. To make it to the starting line in Kona, athletes have to win a qualifying spot at one of the qualifying events held around the world or be very lucky and get a spot through the lottery. Tens-of-thousands of triathletes try each year. Only 1,700 succeeded in 2007. www.ironman.com/worldchampionship

WHAT:

A 2.4-mile ocean swim, 112-mile bike race and 26.2-mile run. Competitors have 17 hours to finish. Cutoff times are also applied to the swim (2:20 after start of race) and the bike (10:30 after the start of race.)

WHERE:

Kailua-Kona, Hawaii. The swim segment begins and ends at the pier in Kailua. The bike race travels north on the Kona Coast to the small village of Hawi, and then returns along the same route to the new transition area at the King Kamahamaha Hotel. The marathon course travels through Kailua and onto the same highway used for the bike race. Contestants run back into Kailua-Kona, coming down Alii Drive to the cheers of more than 25,000 people at the finish line.

WHO:

Up to 2,000 competitors, ages 18-80, compete from 50-plus countries and all 50 states. Upwards of 50,000 competitors attempt to qualify at Ironman qualifying races worldwide. Another 4,000 enter the race lottery, which awards 150 slots to U.S. citizens and 50 slots to international athletes. In recognition of their athletic accomplishment, age group champions automatically qualified for the next year's race.

"Triathlon training"

Q. What does a typical week of peak ironman training look like?

A. "Peak training is when you're at your biggest volume or biggest intensity, and for ironman you're talking more volume than intensity.

In a peak ironman week, what I'm aiming for is about 6 miles a week of swimming, about 40 miles of running and 150 to 200 miles a week of biking. And within that I try to get in at least one really long bike day where it's going to be at least 100 miles on the bike. My max this year was 124 miles one time by myself, and then my long run is usually 20 miles and I try to do that the day after I've done the 100-mile bike ride to train my legs for the ironman.

Now, I don't do this for more than three to four weeks total. It's not like you do this all year, but you do it for three or four weeks, you tolerate it and you get stronger. But if you keep going, you'd probably fall apart.

I try to mix up the disciplines a little bit, but on the long bike day I usually don't swim. I almost always try to do a 2- to 3-mile run just after the bike to get my legs used to biking and then running. And then the next day, on the long run day, there should be time to get in a swim too. And all of the other days I mix it up with whatever fits in the day because of work.

For example, last Monday I did a 10-mile run after work and on Tuesday I did a 1-mile swim and a 6-mile run because that's how long the (Central Vermont Runners) Fun Run was and I sometimes train based on social things. And then Wednesday I did a 32-mile bike after work and a short swim. And then on the weekend I'll do my last long run and ride before tapering for ironman, so this is the max that I'll do.

It's also important to avoid getting trained too early. If I start doing the really long, hard stuff three months in advance, I feel like I'm stale and overtrained. Working can make you fatigued, but it keeps you from overtraining. It's just a matter of listening to my body and knowing what I can do or can't do to avoid the overtraining. And I think sleep is one of the first keys - if I can't sleep any more, I'm probably overtraining.

I think another big thing is fuelling. I totally listen to the people who say you must fuel within 15 minutes after exercise. If it's anything longer than 45 minutes of exercise, I make sure I get something in as often as possible within 15 minutes, like carbs and protein. I really like drinkable yogurts and chocolate milk, either one or the other. If you can have a pint of Stonyfield drinkable yogurt within 15 minutes, you're going to have the energy to run the next day. Whereas if you don't, you might not."

(Donna Smyers is a 51-year-old world-class triathlete from Adamant. She will be competing in her 10th Ironman World Championship on Oct. 11 in Kona, Hawaii, where she'll tackle 2.4 miles of swimming, 112 miles of biking and a 26.2-mile marathon. She has won her age group five times at the annual event.)"

HENRY MARCY WRITES...

I am writing in response to the excellent "A History of CVR" series of articles written by Bob Murphy and published in Volume 28, issues 3 and 4 in Volume 29, issues 1 and 2 (and, presumably, to continue in future issues). First and foremost, I commend Bob for the articles, but much more importantly, for founding CVR and being so prominent in keeping the organization viable for so many years.

I was one of those runners who, as Bob mentions, was a member of the North Country Athletic Club (NCAC) prior to joining Central Vermont Runners (CVR) when it was formed in 1980. Though I lived in St. Johnsbury, I worked for Vermont State Government in Montpelier ... so, CVR was a natural. I remained an active member until leaving Vermont for Reading, Massachusetts in 1987, but have remained a CVR member ever since (though I stopped competing as a runner a couple of years ago, due to a knee damaged while dancing, and have taken up bicycling). I remember my CVR days with great fondness ... and retain warm appreciation for all the other runners who shared those experiences (many of whom continue to bolster the organization today).

One of the running clubs that I consider a predecessor to CVR and that Bob did not mention was the Montpelier Athletic Association (MAA). I was an MAA member from 1973 until 1979, that is, prior to joining the NCAC. Recently, I verified that I still have my yellow t-shirt with a green winged foot and "Montpelier AA" imprinted on it. I recollect that Steve Sease (then of Moretown; whereabouts unknown today) founded the MAA in 1969 or 1970. It was a very small organization (understandable in that it was spawned in the pre-running boom days). I am reasonably certain that Bill Rollins (then of Waterbury Center and now almost 86 and still living in Montpelier), Ave Laundon (famed rower, may still be living in Waterbury or Waterbury Center?), Sam Johnson (then of Waterbury Center and now living in Colorado as he has been for many years), John Ponsetto (then of Montpelier; whereabouts unknown today), Dennis Malloy (then of Montpelier?; whereabouts unknown today) Jim Suskin (I believe killed while bicycling in Montpelier) and Charlie Kellogg (of cross-country skiing fame; whereabouts unknown today) were all members too. I'm sure there were others (Bob Mercier, Schuyler Jackson, Peter Herman??). The club lasted almost a decade.

On or about April 2, 1977, at the New England Road Runners Club (NERRC) 15 kilometer Championship in Essex, Henry Marcy (St. Johnsbury) and John Ponsetto (Montpelier) ran officially as MAA members. John Ponsetto, Dennis Malloy and Henry Marcy of the MAA all ran in the Dartmouth Medical School Marathon (with half the course in New Hampshire and the other half in Vermont) on October 2, 1977. While John (3:51:10) and Dennis (approximately 3:45) finished (Henry dropped out at 20 miles), I don't believe John ever ran competitively again. Others who ran that day included Bob Oatley (3:19:20, Bob Mercier (3:28:56 and Darragh Ellerson (3:51:30). On June 24, 1978, at the NERRC 10-mile Championship held in Montpelier, at least four (age 30 to 39) runners officially affiliated with the MAA - Henry Marcy (St. Johnsbury), John Ponsetto (Montpelier), Jim Suskin (South Burlington) and Steve Sease (Moretown) -- ran against members of the NCAC, the Green Mountain Athletic Association (GMAA), the St. Albans Athletics (SAA), the Moscow Striders (MS), the South Woodbury Athletic Club (SWAC), the Red Clover Rovers (Brattleboro area), the Southern Vermont Road Runners (SVRR) in the Bennington area, and the Vermont Ridge Runners (Rutland / Killington area) ... and assorted other running clubs from the other New England states and New York (as well as the Irish Ski Team).

For me, personally, I think of the MAA as THE precursor to CVR ... though, I hasten to add, I am not suggesting a direct lineage. As Bob indicates, the role of the NCAC as a CVR "parent" was prominent.

As a runner, what are your greatest safety concerns? (Examples: aggressive dogs, broken pavement, distracted drivers, hostile drivers)

What can runners do to improve their personal safety when running on Vermont's roads?

If you run in low light conditions, what steps do you take to increase your visibility and safety?

What would you like an organization such as the VT Bicycle & Pedestrian Coalition to do/say when representing your concerns at the State House?

THE KINGDOM CHALLENGE!

SATURDAY OCTOBER 25TH LYNDONVILLE/ST. JOHNSBURY, VT

This is a great ½ marathon (8:30 a.m.) and it is the "Kickoff" event to the legendary St. Johnsbury/Lyndon Institute football game – one of the oldest rivalries in the nation.

We are having a 5k run/walk (9:00 a.m.) in addition to the ½ marathon. Here is the link - www.thekingdomchallenge.com. If you have questions, please call 802.748.1514!

Although we have a great/experienced team putting the course and logistics together, we are rookies at getting the word out to the runners. Any tips on that would be greatly appreciated.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Jim O'Reilly

A History of CVR By Bob Murphy

Chapter 5. Other Notable Contributors to CVR.

Recognizing that service in one of the four officer positions is not the only way that members contribute to the club, it is important to remember those other sometimes less heralded jobs that folks have taken on to support the club and its events. Race directors through the years are an obvious place to start, and they will be recognized in future chapters dealing with detailed discussions of our major races. Here are some other positions that have been filled by willing volunteers through the years.

Race Chair. This position was established at the beginning of the club, and was held by Doug Jones in 1980 and by Byron Hill in 1981. I will admit that my recollection of the duties of this position are somewhat foggy, but I believe it had to do with ensuring that our races were adequately staffed with directors and volunteers. In any event, the need for a position with this title evaporated with time.

Carpool Coordinator. The title of this position, held by Bob Oatley in 1980 and 1981, speaks for itself. Gas prices were high for the times, and Bob's job was to coordinate rides to various races. This was a quite relevant role which Bob filled well, but the need for it eventually diminished. The title of the position actually changed in 1981 to Communications Chair, but it was essentially the same job.

Newsletter Editor. You will note that positions are not necessarily being listed in the order of importance! This VERY important job has been handled by a wide variety of individuals over the years, and their contributions endure thanks to our CVR Newsletter archives. Jamie Shanley's 6+ years as editor give him the distinction of longest-serving. Newsletter editors with their dates of editorship are as follows:

Bob Murphy	May 1980 – Jul 1980; Jan 1981 – Jun 1983
Glenn Gershaneck	Aug 1980 – Nov/Dec 1980
Bob Howe	Jul 1983 – Jun 1985
Muriel Eaton	Aug 1985 – Feb 1986
Norm Robinson	Mar 1986 to Jun 1986; Apr 1992 to Jun 1993
Merill Cray	Jul 1986 to Dec 1987
Tim Noonan	Jan 1988 to May 1988; Mar 1990 to Jan 1991
Dana McCarthy	Jun 1988 to Jan 1990; Apr 1991 to Oct 1991
Nancy Schulz & Maureen Carr	Aug 1993 to Jan 1994
Nancy Schulz	Feb 1994 to Jan 1995
Maureen Carr	Apr 1995 to Dec 1995
Jamie Shanley	Mar 1996 to Jun 2002
Beth Eliason	May 2003 to Sep 2004
Nancy Rice	Spring 2005 to present

Standards Chair. This position was established to ensure that our races adhered to standards established by RRCA, and was held initially by Joe McEntyre (Aug 1980 to 1981), and then by Bob Murphy from 1984-1985, and again in 1990. Use of the title was a sometimes thing, and is no longer in vogue.

Course Measurer. The Standards Chair position noted above was closely related to our need to establish accurate race courses, and although there was no title attached to it at the time, Joe McEntyre was the first person to accurately measure a course for the club. To ensure that the 10-miler would be recognized as an accurately measured course, and thus qualify to be considered the NERRC Championship race, Joe and a small crew actually measured the entire 10-mile course using a steel tape. I don't know how long it took Joe to complete these laborious measurements, but the results were accepted by TAC (The Athletics Congress, predecessor of today's USAT&F), so he must have done a good job. USAT&F changed measurement rules in the mid-1980's with the introduction of a short-course protection factor, and the 10-miler had to be recertified. Bob Murphy took over measurement duties in 1985 or thereabouts, and has since measured (and remeasured) many of the club's courses. He had the benefit of an improved bicycle-measurement procedure that Joe could not use in the early 1980's.

Publicity Chair. This is an on-again, off-again title that has been resurrected from time to time. The purpose is obvious: to publicize club activities, coordinate with local media and essentially see that the club gets recognition and good press. Norm Robinson held this position in 1982, Nancy Maloney did it in 1989, Mack Gardner-Morse claimed the title for the longest period, from 1993 to 1994 and again in 1998, and Dot Helling did the duty from 2004-2005. With or without a person with the title, publicity does get done, but it seems that when the club has a person with a focus on that work, it does get done more effectively.

Fun Run Chair. The only person to hold this position and be named in association with it in our Newsletters was Jeff Shutak in 1982. Since that time, of course, many others have done coordination duties in regard to fun runs (Darragh Ellerson most notably), but without an official title.

Membership Chair. Sam Davis was CVR's first membership chair in 1992; since that time, the only person to hold that title has been Donna Smyers, who has been doing a terrific job of keeping membership lists current since 2005.

Webmaster. A web presence was established for CVR in 1996 by Bob Murphy. As state record-keeper at the time, Bob established a bare-bones text-only website that contained both CVR and Vermont Running Data Center information. Race results, schedules and other information was available to all with internet access. In 1999, Dave Kissner took over reins as Webmaster and has since built the CVR website into one of the best around, with photos, great graphics and tons of information.

CVR/ORS Series Scorer. The CVR/ORS Race Series was established in 2000. For the first two years, scoring was done by Onion River Sports personnel. Because they had real day jobs to do, scoring was sometimes delayed a bit and turned out to be a chore they were willing to dispense with. Bob Murphy stepped forward and offered to do the scoring, which he did from 2002 to 2006. At that point, Bob decided to step down, and George Phillips took over and continues to do the scoring for this popular series.

The above mentioned individuals all had official titles. Recognition should also be made to the countless others who gave of their talents and time to help out in various ways at club meetings, fun runs and races, and in-between.

One such untitled individual (at least in the newsletters) was Bob Howe. For years he functioned as CVR's Scholarship Committee Chair. The issue of scholarships for local youth heading off to college was discussed in 1985, and a decision made to begin awarding scholarships in 1986. Bob contacted schools, encouraging coaches and notifying students, and coordinated the annual selection process. Despite Bob's significant outreach efforts, applications began to decline in the 1990's, and the scholarship program was finally abandoned in 1995. The club has since sought other ways to assist youth running programs, and in 1996 inaugurated the Kids' Track Meet.

Volunteers are the backbone of CVR, and volunteer recognition dinners have been held from time to time. Now it is an annual established tradition, and a Spirit-of-the-Club Award has been given to deserving individuals. To date, recipients of this award are as follows:

2005 – Darragh Ellerson
2005 – Tim Noonan
2006 – Bob Murphy
2006 – Donna Smyers
2007 – Norm Robinson
2008 – Dave Kissner

LOOKING FOR AN ASSISTANT OR CO-COACH, GIRLS ON THE RUN FOR MONTPELIER

Hi folks! I'd like to apply for a Girls on the Run (GOR) site in Montpelier at the Main Street school. The GOR of Vermont organization requires at least two coaches per site. Check out details at www.girlsontherunvermont.org I'm looking for a partner to do this with before putting in the application. Another venue that's open is U32 for anyone out there interested in doing a program up there.

Montpelier does not have a program. It would be great to start one. Please contact me if you're interested. This needs to be pulled together in October event though the coaching season is March to June. The commitment is about 5 hours a week. And you must attend a training session in January. There is one locally in Montpelier. Hope to get interest. Thanks, Dot at ultradot@verizon.net

[Hi all! I thought you might enjoy reading this article from the Durango Herald about the Hood to Coast and the team I was in this year. This may be interesting to those of you who have been doing Green Mountain Relay and Reach the Beach. Marjorie Brinton is my sister. Debbie Tirrito was the other Vermonter on the team. Enjoy!]

RUNNING H2C: THE 'MOTHER OF ALL RELAYS'

September 5, 2008

Twelve women, with two support vans, running 197 miles in 26 hours.

That was our job on Aug. 22 and 23 as we ran the 27th annual Nike Hood to Coast Relay, a team relay race that begins near the summit of Mount Hood and finishes in Seaside, Ore.

Our team, Hot Shoes Goes Coastal, consisted of women (ages 27 to 63) from Colorado, Massachusetts, Vermont and Oregon. Organized by Dot Helling and Betty Wagner, both veterans of this event, we began with a screaming descent of 5000 feet in nearly perfect weather.

The logistics of a race of this magnitude are amazing, with 12,000 runners, 4,800 walkers and 3,500 volunteers involved.

There are 36 exchanges over the course with each runner doing three different legs. Van 1, with the first six runners, started first and hopscotched from each exchange to switch off runners. The van then met Van 2 at exchanges 6, 12, 18 and 24 for a complete change of the guard.

Obviously, there was a lot of down time between runs, which made eating, sleeping and stretching a challenge. However, camaraderie and team spirit are what make an event like this unique and special.

Sixty-three- year-old Levi Query from Portland has run the Hood to Coast (H2C) 20 times with a variety of teams over the years.

Her experiences vary from being on a winning team back in the '80s to running with a team of girls from her daughter's swim club.

"Back when I was a hot runner I had a rule that I would run with a different team every year," she said. "I met many more runners that way."

Her favorite experience by far was the year she ran with her daughter, who thought the experience was like a giant slumber party.

Jamie Kouse of Durango experienced her first relay, and found the night segment to be one of the most memorable parts.

"Conquering my fears of what might be lurking in the dark was challenging, but running at night feels like you are going much faster," she said. "As the youngest, it was very motivating listening to what everyone else has done; it made me look forward to my career in running."

Dot Helling from Vermont has done the H2C four times as part of the record setting "Hot Shoes Returns" super-masters team.

"Running on a non-competitive team was fun and much more relaxed," Helling said. "I just ran how I felt and enjoyed the scenery and camaraderie. "

For Portland native Betty Wagner, this year counted as her 12th H2C race. Most of her previous races were on very competitive teams, and seven were with some version of Hot Shoes.

Betty has seen improvement in the logistics over the years, and remembered that in 1991 her team encountered such a huge traffic jam that they couldn't make it to their next exchange point in time. As a result, they lost to a rival team.

"This year was really exciting because of all the people coming from all over the U.S., with many never having run a relay or visited Oregon before," she said. "As captain, there are a zillion details to coordinate, and you feel like it's not going to come together. But it does."
